Foreword

THE Hi-Way of 1937 epitomizes the wheel of time—the spinning progress of our matchless age. "The mills of the gods grind slowly," but education speeds the mills of progress to keep pace with Time.

The original resident of Teaneck—the Indian—plodded his complacent way content with what the day might bring. Not so with those who followed after. They builded for the future on a foundation of education and progress. Their aim, though the more difficult, is nearing attainment as the accelerating pace of Time, the inexorable, forces us ever onward.

We who leave Teaneck High know that those who follow will carry the torch further and faster as Time, Time, Time goes on and on. . . .

Dedication

WE, the class of 1937, wish to acknowledge with deep appreciation one who has counseled and served us well during our junior and senior years.

We dedicate to R. Kermit Hewes the Hi-Way of 1937.

Our Thank You

First, to our parents for their desire to give us more than an adequate education in this beautiful high school building.

Second, to the administration of our school for the many trials they endure and the long hours they work to plan and arrange our curricula for us.

Third, to all the faculty, our friends (we hope) for their tolerance of our ignorance and for their tireless efforts to lead us through the complexities of modern thought.

TENTH GRADE

Tenth Graders Caught Informally

Although they will not organize or elect officers until next year, the Tenth Grade certainly is an up and coming class. They have many talented and clever members, and have already gained a great deal of recognition throughout the school.

The class took a large part in the production of The Mikado, presented by the Junior High School last year, and many of the "leads" were played by its members.

At graduation last year the American Legion Awards were given to Jean Mackel and Fred Baser, two of the outstanding members of the class. A portrayal of the history of music was presented by them as the graduation play. This splendid production showed the development of music from the time of the cave man to the present.

An active member of the class, Frank McClellan, who was president of the Junior Student Council, has already been elected vice-president of the Senior Student Council. This is an unusual honor for a member of the Tenth Grade.

They have already presented, this year, under Mrs. Bream's direction, a fine assembly program which consisted of a summary of all the plays given by them last year.

Carry on, Class of 1939!

The Eleventh Grade certainly started the year with a "bang" under the direction of their able sponsor, Mr. Trend. The wise choice of officers and cabinet members kept the plans coming thick and fast—assembly program, sport frolic, prom, picnic and ever so many other things.

We predict a fine class of 1938! Oh! horrors. We will be alumni then!

NATURE

Ye Old Te-Hi Indian Folk Lore

Six years ago, a group of explorers started out on a journey. The path was already discovered and travelled, but entirely new and unknown to them. Their destiny was analogous but their routes varied.

Upon Junior High School graduation (with Martha Lawrence and Charles Schlenker receiving the merited awards) they became big shots and were no longer associates of the little Juniors.

With the many advantages of extra curricular activities offered there was some fine individual work accomplished.

As Juniors they elected Gardner Finley president, and Mr. Hewes faculty adviser. This was not a noteworthy year because of lack of cooperation, and interest displayed by the members of the class.

However, upon election of John Hollowell as president, the Seniors enjoyed a more active and successful year. Johnny conducted his plans nobly in view of our seemingly inherent rugged individualism.

The elaborate Junior wing was completed, which helped to make conditions for both groups decidedly more desirable.

With Peg Edwardes as the first girl in the school's history to attain the honor of being elected president of the Student Council, the constitution was discarded and a more effective modern charter was instituted; with the addition of compulsory club representation.

The Student Court was continued as an experiment with hopes of a possible success in the future.

Under the leadership of Miss Margot there were some valuable Playcrafters productions. "The Great Choice," directed by Bill Beuscher, capable president of the organization, was enthusiastically received by both faculty and students. The first attempt at having two entirely separate casts with both matinee and evening performances was successfully carried out in "New Fires." Bobbie Drake and President Johnny gave two grand portrayals as husband and wife.

Edith Bauder, the competent president of the Girls' League, contributed greatly to its success through her willingness, understanding, and a typical calmness. Who will forget the "Girls' League Animated Magazine?" The chic cover (a ski scene)—the travelogue in pantomime—musical educational page featuring our "local" talent—that very dramatic (?) short-short story—Johnny's recitation—the ads—and those extremely helpful Beauty Hints.

Our very suave captain of the Student Service, Warren Ziegler, with the rare ability to be useful, also deserves recognition for his labors along with every member of his staff.

Three cheers for Helen Beegle and her Rah Rah Squad. They certainly deserve our commendations, for in spite of the fact that our football squad was not so successful on the field, time and time again our "pepperuppers" have awakened us to the fact that we were witnessing a gallant battle.

We admire their nerve, not the hard, tense, we-are-ready-for-anything attitude that lasts for a day, but the continuous courage that will see him through.

Under Paul Effinger's able "editorship" we recall our enjoyment of "Susie Sue," "Dot's Dashes," "Kay's Styles" and those very inspiring editorials.

The Band and Orchestra has continued to reap its laurels with Mr. Wilhoit as the musical genius and instructor.

And now that our partial journey has been completed with the explorations of many successful years, we can only hope for the continuance of these individuals and the further development of those less fortunate.

Indian Givers

We, the outstanding seniors of Teaneck High School, Township of Teaneck, County of Bergen, and State of New Jersey, having spent twelve years of our life acquiring an education and being of sound mind and memory feel justified in leaving some of our distinctive characteristics to the successors to our position as seniors. We hereby bequeath the following as our last will and testament:

I, Marjorie Starr, leave my ability to lose weight to Evelyn Barthold—with hopes that she will follow suit.

I, Jack Higgenbotham, leave my "tell 'em what I think" attitude to William Woodruff.

I, "Chic" Amrhein, leave my sense of humor to Grace Bolton.

I, Tony Cancro, will the pigskin to "Beans" Taylor to carry on the victories. (???)

I, Bob Turner, will my "unfinished tango" to Bill Ford.

I, Helen Beegle, do, with best wishes, leave my ability to "made 'em yell" to Jam Polhill.

I, Dot Caroussis, will my extremely unique haircomb to Doris Scattergood. P. S. My unique column, too!

I, Robert Young, leave the baton to anyone who can sling it over the goal posts.

I, Betty Fleck, will my manual, "Typing in Ten Easy Lessons," to Bill Kick.

I, Robert Bechhofer, leave my excellence in math to those struggling juniors who undoubtedly need it.

I, Lud Gibbons, will my quarterback position to Eddie Carr.

I, Mary Louise Thomas, leave my extremely blond tresses to anyone who can use them as well as I have.

I, Walter Barkman, leave my ability to play the piano to anyone who can put it to good advantage.

I, Mildred Blochwitz, leave my shy, modest air to Audrey Gurney—???

I, Charles Schlenker, leave my quiet unassuming manner to Bud Hoppe—with hopes!

I, Snooky Smith, leave the name Bertha to anyone who wants it—I don't.

I, Joe Walsh, leave my studious nature to Bernice Lambertson.

I, David Rosamond, leave my "way with the fair sex" to Alex Hardy.

I, Jean Riviere, leave my "silence is golden" attitude to Frankie Eaton.

I, Marion Quinby, leave my sisters to the school.

I, Emil Steen, leave my wrestling ability to Warren Bund.

I, Hazel Trimbach, leave my southern drawl to any northerner who may attempt to cultivate one.

I, Beatrice Hagedorn, leave my musical interest to future students of Mr. Willhoit.

I, Arthur Egan, leave the task of setting scenes for Playcrafters in the hands of George Goewey for future years.

I, Beatrice Hess, leave my smart appearance to Connie Hooker, who is equally as smart.

I, George Formica, leave my ability to speak French to Kay Ernst.

I, Irwin Pachman, bequeath my seat in the subway to all "femmes" in the Junior Class.

I, Thomas Kappock, leave my ability to blush to Norman Leafe.

I, Jeannette Bolinder, leave my artistic talents to Thelma Hall.

I, Connie Smith, leave my efficiency to those less efficient juniors.

I, Myron Dakin, leave my ability to tell ghost stories to the Junior Class, may it help them in their Friday talks.

I, Scott Schenck, leave the trick of being absent on speech day to all those unfortunate souls who have to make a Friday speech.

I, Edith Weisser, bequeath my Student Service Badge to anyone who will promise to keep it as shiny as I did.

I, Stanley Wakeham, leave my intricate dance steps to bashful boys.

I, Anthony Pieper, bequeath my line to anyone who can catch one.

I, Lucille Arnaud, leave my earmuffs to the school—for 29c.

I, John Hoth, leave my "Campbell soup rhymes" to all future poets.

We, the Barons, will our blue and yellow jackets to anyone daring enough to wear them.

I, Eddie Wickham, "Tillie" of the Beaux Arts Ball, leave my distinctive costume to those who will attend the 1937 Beaux Arts Ball.

I, Marjorie King, leave my feeling of amazement to Charlie Steel.

I, Paul Whitcraft, finally leave school—I hope.

We, the class of 1937, leave "Willie" to the class of 1938.

In witness whereof, we have hereunto set our hand at our school this twenty-sixth day of May in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven.

Class of '37.

Ye Hi-Way Medicine Man Predicts

Monday April 20, 1957

Dot's Dashes and lots of flashes . . .
Let's go to Press!

BROADWAYITEMS . . .

First nighters arrived in top hats and the usual minks and ermines at last night's premiere of "The Woman I Am," by those two popular collaborating playwrights, Helen Denton and Lawrence Levy. As predicted by producer Leo Reno, it is evident that the Denton-Levy drama is a sure-fire Broadway hit! . . . New Yorchids to the stars, Leroy Uppwall and Margaret McDonald, and to Director Cathie, also to the supporting cast which includes George Berghorn, who remains an old favorite because of his classic comedy roles, and to Theresa Cavaliere and Gertrude Erbe, who are a challenge to any Broadway audience. Credit for costumes and settings goes to young Bill Riester, who is fast becoming the Jo Mielziener of his day!

NEW YORK HEART BEAT . . .

The Roy Barbers (she was the former Lu Arnaud, ex-Follies cutie) are in Town again . . . Blondie Blomberg, secretary to the Baum Bros., Inc., is being escorted about town by playboy Edward Welsh, of the blue-blood clan . . . Dorothy Crabbbe Gogolen is denying rumors that she will make a dash to Nevada this spring. He is president of the Edward Gogolen Steel Co., Inc. . . . Edythe McCracken, the gal in the "Ciggie" Ads, who incidentally is one of the highest paid models in the profession, can't make up her mind about Alf Burlingame, gentleman hunter of the social register, or Godfrey Stienman of the Princeton faculty, who is rumored in line for dean . . . Wedding Bells are expected to ring out any time now for Betty Blood, style director at Saks' 5th Avenue, and Ray Donaldson of the "flickers" . . . Elsie Meehan and Barbara Drake, associated with Eva Le Galliene's Civic Repertory Theatre, will surprise Broadway sophisticads by announcing a double wedding scheduled for this June. The lucky grooms are Bill Boyle, model for Esquire, and Alvin Lee, publicity agent for Miss Le Galliene . . . The Dorothy Lindsay-Robert Valleau romance is being denied by her parents. She is the Girl Friday for General Motors president, Richard Hook, and he is second vice president of the Jerome Goldin Health Institute . . . Lil Bell, society editor, and Newspaper Man Emil Steen, want the whole world to know that they are oofly, oofly in love and are setting a wedding date!

TOWN TOPICS . . .

Shirley Orner is being starred at the New Orientale this week under the stage name of Hypsy Rose See . . . Willie Delaney and his Casa Foma Orchestra are headlining at the Paramount. With him as guest stars are Gini Starr, blues singer, and Mary Ghazey, monologist, who à la Sheila Barrett is making them roll in the aisles! . . . Barbara Lee has just signed a contract to broadcast daily over WABC for Miracle Lotion, Inc. She will give beauty hints to the women . . . Kendall Ainsworth and his wife, formerly Marie Crowley, are busily preparing for his concert to be given at the Manhattan Opera House this spring. Ainsworth and Mrs. A have collaborated on several numbers that he and the symphony orchestra will render. One selection composed by Mrs. A is entitled, ironically enough, "Life Ainsworth A Dime!" . . . Tony Cancro, National Wrestling Champ, is being sued for breach of promise by husky-voiced Jean Buchan, who is instructing at the Claude Garreau Voice Culture Studio . . . Peggy Edwardes, the ingenue, has signed a contract to appear in Courtland Baker's new Scandals of 1958 Revue . . . Ralph Sickels will lead pretty socialite Jeanette Browdy to the altar next Wednesday, in "The Little Church Around the Corner." The wedding march will be played by that old master of the console, Angelo Cafarelli. Charles Kiefer's deep baritone voice will be heard soloing "Ave Maria" during the ceremony.

SCENE ABOUT TOWN . . .

Alvera "Snakins" Aikens and Eddie Misfeldt, both known throughout the theatrical zone, were seen at Slinky Schlenker's Stomping House, which is fast becoming the favorite late spot of the celebrities. They were dancing to the strains and sprains of Kenny Olsen's Organ Grinders . . . Wakeham and Runge, that famous dance team who are crashing all records at The Wain Bow Woom, will remain by popular demand for another two weeks' engagement.

SHIP NEWSES (I Cover the Waterfront) . . .

Will Davenport was feted by his friends at a Bon Voyage Dinner last A.M. in the Active Antics Club. Will and Mrs. D., who was formerly Erna Daus, sailed on the S.S. "President Salmon" for Europe . . . Countess Edythe Koiwopu, the singer, posed prettily for the gentlemen of the press on her arrival here yesterday. She refused to confirm or deny rumors of a possible estrangement from the Count . . . Edith Bauder waved goodbye to New York this morning and set sail for London where she will lecture at various clubs on "Mad Dogs and Englishmen" . . . Those newlyweds, District Attorney Beuscher and his pretty young bride, Adelaide Halstead, struggled through a shower of rice and confetti as they boarded the "Hindenburg" after an elaborate ceremony and wedding breakfast that followed at Kieselbach Kasino. They will Honeymoon on the Riviera for three months . . . Martha Lawrence, feature editor on the Ladies Home Journal, who was reported several months ago by your reporter to be carrying on a trans-oceanic romance with an Italian nobleman, is sailing to Venice for a short holiday with her fiance. It is expected that she will set the date on her return to New York.

It is rumored that he started composing it while on duty as Captain of the S.S. during the 5—2 period. The corridors of the third floor provided an excellent opportunity for followers of the Terpsichorean Art!

SPORT FLASHES . . .

Jack Higgenbotham slid across the finish line today at the R. R. R. T. (Robert Robinson Race Track). Higgenbotham and his racing mate, Bill Mooney, were too fast, it seems, since they didn't stop at the finish but went right through the walls of the arena. They are now recovering at the Teaneck Medical Center under the expert care of Doctor Tony Pieper. Visitors and flowers will be admitted in the afternoon . . . Dorothy Zimmerman and Gertrude Gottschalk, the two famous skating stars who are competing with Sonia Henie for the skating honors to be given at the Madison Square Garden tomorrow night, are being offered screen tests by MGM and Columbia Pictures . . . Paul Effinger, the Paper Weight Champion of the boxing ring, is in training at his camp in Teaneck, New Jersey, just across the Hudson. No women are allowed at the camp until after his bout with Irwin Pachman on the 15th of next month. Even Mrs. Effinger, the former Winifred Reilly, is barred! . . . Bill Lampe recently won the medal for the World's Champion Flag-Pole Sitter. President Salmon presented him with the medal and commended him on his excellent spirit of patriotism!

SCENE ON BROADWAY . . .

Evelyn Crowley is decorating the New Serf Room of the Waldorf Astoria. She has gained much fame as an interior decorator . . . Edwina Arvanite is displaying her latest collection of wild life that she and her explorer-husband, James Platt, brought home with them on their last trip . . . Henry Pienecke, the great inventor genius, who invented the collapsible cigarette holder, sailed at midnight to Germany to take charge of his sales in Europe. He stated that after such deep and laborious study to perfect this little gadget he needed a rest! . . . and so does your medicine man, who will fade away amidst your chattering voices and laughter, to his obscure place beneath the pages.

Has your medicine man prophesied foolishly? . . . perhaps!

But until 1957, time and time alone, will tell!

A Challenge to Success

It has been often—and truly—said that everything is not known, and frequently that which has been accepted as fact for generations, is found to be wholly or partly false in the light of recent inventions or discoveries. This should be a cheering and hopeful thought for those of us who are about to graduate and who must determine what we hope to do in a future unknown and uncertain world.

Too often our elders are wont to discourage us by stating that youth has little to look for in a highly specialized future in which man will become increasingly unimportant. Time and experience must have dulled the imaginations of such people, for if we study the various professions we can understand what a limitless opportunity is offered to each and every individual who has ability, patience, and the will to work. The fields of medicine, chemistry, science, and research alone are unlimited.

Many diseases have been curtailed or partially eliminated in the course of years. However, the cause of many diseases is as yet unknown, and after the cause has been found, think of the years to discover and apply the cure.

The study of aeronautics is still in its infancy, and there is much to be done before the aeroplane becomes as safe and economical a vehicle as it must necessarily be in a modern swift-moving civilization.

Education at the present time is in a state of flux. New experiments are constantly being tried and as promptly discarded. We of our generation have the opportunity and the privilege of perfecting the art of teaching and the art of learning to such a degree that the citizens of the future will have a culture which will enable them to enjoy the added leisure which we are promised in the future.

We are constantly being challenged by the thought that the best book has not yet been written nor the most exquisite music been composed nor the most beautiful picture painted.

Fortunate are we to have the background of thought and research of past generations as our foundation, but rather than being discouraged by this we should be buoyed by the thought that if so much could be accomplished then, too, there is so much more to be done. Let us look to the future then with real hope and a determination to find in life some of its grandeur and some of its fun—remembering always that "The world is dull to dull people."

Philosophy of a Youngster

Our life is composed of separate days and to attain success with the whole of it we must make a success of each day.

To accomplish it will be necessary to plan our day intelligently and dispense with friction, bickering and strained relationships.

Realizing that happiness depends largely on oneself, that is, upon our will and attitude of ourselves to whatever happens, try to affect pleasantly everyone with whom we come in contact and endeavor to create happiness as well as receive it.

It is most necessary to believe in ourselves and allow nothing to create in us discouragement or despair.

We should strive to be more honest and prompt than business requires; more kind than charity requires; more loyal than friendship requires; and more considerate than love demands.

Enjoy as heartily as possible what the day brings and get all the pleasure possible from working, resting, eating, drinking, amusements and the people we meet.

When all is accomplished we will have lived the day and found life good.

MARIE CROWLEY.

Youth's Heritage

The topic that is probably most discussed today and that is uppermost in people's minds, is that of the development of society. The world is a stage when old and accepted ideas are being challenged and new theories are being proposed from every side. Novelists, dramatists, journalists, and poets all add to the dim by offering ideas, theories and criticisms. Politicians bellow from all directions and people from every walk of life approve and reject regularly as the days roll on.

We, students of the schools of America stand by and are immensely impressed by the seeming chaos of things. We find that sorting the good from the false of the volumes of information set forth is a frightful job and we fall back, discouraged from time to time on the guiding bond of the school or our home, as a frightened babe runs to its mother. We are only too aware that the problems of today are our heritage and that we will be called upon for the solution in all too short a time.

Being introduced to life in this stage of the development of the world many of us lose sight of the fact that this is not the ordinary state of affairs. There must be a time when life is mainly for living and not for pondering and shaping. Will our lives be constant trials and unsettled wanderings? Will we always be faced with the major problems of government? Will we live entirely for future generations? These and other overwhelming questoins arise in the minds of the young people of today.

In the years to come, when we look back on this stage of the development of our lives; when we know the answers to all the questions that only time can answer, we will see a story, perhaps, more gripping than any we'll ever read. If the happiest person is really the person who "thinks the most interesting thoughts" we will have the material to be of the happiest of men.

We realize that the revolutionary changes that are offered by the most reactionary to the most radical forces may change not only the state but the church, the school and the home. But with ever-increasing confidence we look forward to changes that will work progress.

We, as a generation, offer no caviar to humanity, no elimination of all evil, but we do hope to take a lead in world affairs and as energetic humanitarians. We want to give some progressive action that will make a favorable appearance on the pages of history.

"Yes"

The door creaked open and then slammed to. A most curious conglomeration of animation had emerged in the short interval. For lack of specific information, I would term it an animal.

In cubical content it was strung to about a foot and a half high, as well as long, and a half foot wide. This freak of nature seemed to be made of solid, black India rubber, and to consist of three globular divisions all of which were expertly juggled, L-shape, on four straight pegs. The uppermost of these divisions, the head, was adorned with a pocketbook mouth topped by a slightly abused licorice drop of nose. Equidistant from, and just above each side of the nose, were imbedded two glittering amber marbles, eyes. On the very summit, devil like, were perched two triangular elastic ears that twitched rapidly in whatever direction sound manifested itself. The forepart of the body, undistinguished, gave way to the aft which completed itself with a slightly undersized breakfast sausage possessing all the powers and duties of a tail. From an unknown source midway between the eyes, encircling the upthrust snoot, a cascade of white ran riot down the midsection, and dribbled off to nowhere in particular. This, along with the snap in the eyes, lent spice and seasoning to an otherwise funereal appearance.

In a glance it could be ascertained that here was an egotist of the first order, one who was the very image of energy and activity; one of those busybodies who mean well but do wrong; an extrovert with good intentions but the wrong method.

He was the servant of two mad passions: the proof of perpetual motion, and the fact that a single body can be in two places at the same time. The first, he accomplished with a prancing motion more akin to a well coordinated bouncing which, at times, varied and became very discordant and most confusing. The second, not so well carried out, but one which he immediately attempted upon sighting me was simply this: criss-crossing his front and back legs, much like the twirlings of entre-chats in ballet, he would propel himself into space with the rapidity of gunshot, and flaring like a comet out of nowhere alight with a prompt plop-bang. Not content with one good sound blast, he would continue to erupt all over the place with the most ear-piercing, cough-like sounds imaginable.

Thus rudely but unmistakably introduced, my imagination, with a few feeble veers skyward, plunged swiftly to earth. "Lord God of Creation," I said, "Can that be a dog?"

Rain

The choking fields lay barren 'neath the sun,
The dust spread like a cloak o'er hill and dale,
The people prayed for rain, the silver rain,
The rain which giveth life to fields long dry.
Still day by day the unrelentful sun
Baked greater the already brick-like earth,
And fields where once the clean wheat grew at large,
were as the ever-thirsting desert sands.

Then suddenly, one day, a cloudburst came,
The Heaven-sent rain in silver torrents fell,
And people saw a new-found hope in it,
That once again the golden grains would grow.

Lady with a Profession

I've seen but little of this cruel world,
However I have an impression;
I shall not scrub or sweep or cook,
I shall have a profession.

Today my dear old dad carries pipe,
And he makes this confession:
If I had a chance when I was a boy,
Today I would have a profession.

So, Child, go to college and get your degree,
For that is a golden possession;
So long as you live, you will never regret
That you strived for a profession.

I have engraved his words on my heart
Because they left a deep impression;
I shall always be glad that I am
A lady with a profession.

DRUMS ALONG THE MOHAWK

WALTER EDMONDS

Life for Gil and Lana Martin in the fertile Mohawk Valley is sadly disrupted by the Revolutionary War. No sooner are they settled when one army or the other would come along and raze not only their farm, but also the farms of their neighbors. The terrible murders, the Indian's lust for the scalp of the white man, the lack of economic justice—all go to make an historical tale of some significance.

The great injustice that these farmers suffer at the hands of the Continental Army and the disregard of actual conditions by Congress is almost incredible. People starving; livestock of all kinds dying from lack of fodder; tremendous taxes that no one can dream of paying; illness and death resulting; the negligence of Congress in appropriating supplies and ammunition to the staunch little army. These are some of their difficulties.

Nevertheless, this man and wife in their loves and hates, hopes and discouragements, life and death, happiness and dangers fight side by side striving for a permanent home for themselves and their children.

GONE WITH THE WIND

MARGARET MITCHELL

With the Civil War as a theme for Gone With the Wind, Margaret Mitchell has penned a fast-moving and unforgettable story of the South. Miss Mitchell has given us a book of unsurpassed quality and of remarkable literary style. The book depicts the adversities the South had to face during and after the War. With a heart intent on justifying the actions of the South, but unprejudiced, Miss Mitchell proves herself to be one of the talented story-tellers of the century. The ability and ease with which a most intricate plot is developed is worthy of high praise. It is a book not only of great literary value but of historical appreciation. All American readers should be proud to claim this powerful and original novel as theirs. It is truly a story that leaves the reader breathless and one that he will be sorry to finish.

NORTH TO THE ORIENT

ANNE MORROW LINDBERGH

The Lindberghs made a trip in the summer of 1931 along the great circle route from New York to Tokyo. The story of the trip that Mrs. Lindbergh relates is not just a diary of events—it is a magical blending of flying places and time. The collision of the old and the new—accessibility and isolation—add a certain glamor to the novel. The conversational manner in which she writes is very entertaining. Her personal problems of airplane packing, unusual to most of us, contribute to the interest of the book. This best seller, non-fiction book, ranks high as an accurate as well as engrossing history of this tour of the great circle route.

THE LAST PURITAN

GEORGE SANTAYANA

The story's action is intellectual and spiritual; it has little plot and practically no love interest. But for the thoughtful reader, it is easy, stimulating reading.

Oliver Alden was, in spite of the advantage of intellect and wealth, so conscious of Duty, and Responsibility (which are synonyms for Puritanism) that enjoyment was impossible, even close to being sinful. From childhood his every action was inspired by duty to an "inner fire of perfectionism." He played football because of duty, makes love for duty, gives freely of his energies for duty, but reserves always his inner self from everything and everyone.

Personally, I found it very challenging. Having often been dubbed Puritan in scornful terms, I was interested in Santayana's interpretation. Did you find Oliver a prig? I didn't, I sympathized with his struggles, and admired his ability to bend or compromise, and envied his idealism. One thing I blame him for, his Puritanism was negative. It should have led to some good end, and been good for others as well as himself. His life seemed so tragic and futile. Idealism need not be that.

BURY THE DEAD

IRWIN SHAW

Last season Irwin Shaw, a promising young playright, startled New York audiences with his newest play, Bury the Dead, a vehement denunciation of war.

As the play opens, a picture of six dead privates standing erect in their grave, refusing to be buried despite prayers or commands, or tears, compels the reader to follow the plot through the various scenes to the end. The dialogue in itself is a masterpiece, as the author in a few exchanged remarks paints a picture of each of the six corpses, while the swift shifting of scenes (by a series of "blackouts") pulls the threads of the story together.

Here in 1937, this story of the chaos created by six dead soldiers refusing to be buried, because they first desired to know for what cause their lives had been severed takes a new approach to an old slant on the "why's" and "wherefores" of war, and by popular acclaim ranks this drama as one of the best of our proletarian plays.

The Senior Student Council, the legislative body of the school, adopted a charter which affords a new type of representation by which clubs that have been chartered may send representatives as well as home rooms.

The Council has engaged in numerous activities during the year for the purpose of obtaining money. These activities consisted of the selling of football and basketball pins and school stationery. The planning of the weekly assemblies was also aided by the council and a panel discussion on the problems of the Student Council was given by them.

On November nineteenth, Mr. Bream, the four officers, and an additional representative attended a Convention for Student Councils in Trenton.

The Council kept things boiling this year, and even though all their activities were not as successful as they had hoped, they gave us plenty to think about. We are, after this regime, much more conscious of the problems of Government.

The Senior Student Service assist in regulating the various rules to assure an orderly student body. Most of their activities consist of rendering their services during the passing of classes, supervision of halls while classes are in session, and assistance at evening performances.

One afternoon in October they sponsored a Magician Show. (Will you ever forget the way we sat with our mouths open "so wide"? We were thrilled by all the wonders of the world of magic.) The money raised by this show was used to purchase pins. At the end of each year these pins are given to outstanding members of the Service who have faithfully filled their posts and who have received the required number of points.

Their evening activities consisted of guiding the parents during "Back to School Night." Their assistance was also given when the school had the Federal Board of Education of Bergen County as its guests.

For a real job of service to Teaneck High School and for their excellent citizenship, each year this group wins the admiration and respect of all those who know their work.

The Red Cross Council serves in our school just as the local chapters serve in the community. They have drives to help students in school who need lunches, clothing, and medical care.

This year the Council's numerous projects included a drive for old magazines for veterans in hospitals, an afternoon dance held in January, and, throughout the year, afternoon teas given for the faculty.

They engaged in some activities outside of the school such as donating money in the time of the flood. In May, birthday presents were sent to children in the West Haverstraw Home whose birthdays fall in the month of May. In the spring tenth and eleventh grade members were sent to the National Convention in Washington, D. C. All in all, the Red Cross Council had an interesting and successful year.

This year the Senior High School Band has been highly successful, and although it only has about fifty members, Mr. Willhoit, the director, has said that it is the best Teaneck has ever had.

During the year the Band played at the annual concert and the Junior Graduation. Also, they participated in several Junior and Senior High assemblies and played at all the home football games.

Some of the most important compositions played this year were:

Ten Preludes—Franz Lizst.
The Shepherd's Hey—Percy Grainger.
My Hero—from the "Chocolate Soldier."

During the year they played for the annual Christmas Program, which was beautifully done, the annual Spring concert, and the Senior High School Graduation in June. Also, they participated in several assemblies.

Some of the most important compositions played this year were:

Minuette—from Beethoven's Eighth Symphonie.
Sanctus—from Requiem of Mozart.
Children's Prayer—from "Hansel and Gretel."

Barbara Wilder, Mildred Johnson, William Delaney, and Robert Turner were sent as representatives of Teaneck High School to the State Teacher's Convention at Atlantic City.

Also, the Choir has been responsible for two assemblies. They obtained both the Bucknell Choir and Montclair State Teacher's Choir, which were most enjoyable.

The Playcrafters is the dramatic club of the school. Its aim is to instruct students in acting, directing, makeup, and all work connected with the stage.

A new idea was tried this year and proved very successful. Students aided Miss Margot in directing the annual three-act play. They also directed one-act plays which were presented in the assembly.

A new system was also used in selecting the cast for the annual production "New Fires." Two complete casts were used, the first cast performed on Friday night and the second cast on Thursday afternoon. Competition was keen up to the last moment as changes were being constantly made.

In March the Playcrafters produced three one-act plays which marked the high spot of their year.

Drama as a representation of life itself—Drama of a very high order—has been the aim of the Playcrafters. They deserve credit for persisting in their belief and for offering us a pleasant relaxation from the "jazz mad" tastes of many of our student body.

Members of the Senior Library Council have been in charge of the new library and have instructed the members of the Junior Library Council in the new work.

Many new books for the Senior High School Library have been classified, catalogued, and placed on the shelves.

The mid-winter social event was a Christmas supper followed by games and a grab-bag. Also the Council sent a Christmas dinner to a needy family.

An auction sale of second-hand books has been planned, the books all to be contributed by students.

Through the kindness of Mr. Kroner an instructive exhibit has been displayed in the Senior Library showing the interesting photographs taken by Mr. Kroner while on a tour through the West.

Another successful year has passed by, and we of The Girls' League have had an active time. The League, which was formed to develop one's ability to participate in qualities of leadership and consideration of others, appoints a representative from each home-room to attend the meetings, which are held the first Tuesday of every month.

The League is a rare combination of service devoted entirely to the welfare of the school, and good times. Cards are sent to the students who are ill, and good fellowship is extended throughout.

This year's activities were started with an Initiation Party to greet and become acquainted with the new members through a social gathering. The annual Mother and Daughter Banquet was held November 16, in the beautiful new cafeteria. The artistic decorations which included an attractive color scheme, fresh flowers, and unusual place cards turned the lunchroom into a banquet hall of splendor! On February 11 The League sponsored a Show and Dance. With the cooperation of the faculty members, parents, and students, the show, an Animated Magazine, and the dance, with the Ambassadors Orchestra, was one good time we will have to remember. We also assisted with the College and Vocational Nights.

During the year the club had several speakers, among whom were Charles L. Steel, Jr., and Reverend Thomas P. Potter.

Our Hi-Y visited Leonia Hi-Y and invited them to visit us. They accepted our invitation. At that time, we played basketball with them.

Thomas Jeramaz and Chester Sheets represented Teaneck at the State Older Boys' Conference at Collingswood, N. J. The theme of the conference was "Creative Living."

This year the club had a new adviser, Mr. Waite, who, despite his unfamiliarity with the work and almost an entire new club, has done a notable and praiseworthy job.

The slogan of the club is: Clean living, clean speech, clean sports, clean scholarship.

"Die Deutschen Kameraden" stands for "The German Comrades."

The German Club, besides having officers, had a committee for current events, refreshments, music, and reading of German letters received by the members from students in Germany. Anthony Pieper, Dorothy Crabbe, Beatrice Hagedorn, and Edith Weisser are the chairmen respectively.

At every meeting the current events of Germany were given by Anthony Pieper.

The meetings of the club were held once a month.

Seven pins were awarded to outstanding students in the German Club.

The German Club also takes trips to places of interest to the German student. They saw the German play, "White Horse Inn," and visited a German liner.

On December 18th the Club had its annual Christmas party which was a great success.

The purpose of this club is to learn more about the Germans and Germany.

One of the most active groups in the school is the Senior French Club. Every year they earnestly pursue the study of the beloved language and broaden their knowledge of the customs and culture of the French people.

The "Frenchmen" have an interesting time and a good time, too. This year they visited the Normandie and had a delightful Christmas party at which they sang French songs and listened to Mrs. Holmes' inimitable recitation of the story of "Brer Rabbit and the Tarbaby," with a Southern accent! On February fifth the club sponsored its annual dance in celebration of the Mardi Gras! This party was one of the most colorful and enjoyable dances of the year. At the close of school the club conducted its farewell picnic. (We wonder whether they ate frogs' legs.) Their final performance was the awarding of pins to all members who served the group faithfully during the year.

The year of 1936-37 has been most profitable for Les Amis de l'Art. This growing club found it possible to branch out from being merely another girls' club to a thriving organization of boys and girls. Due to hard labor of these eager and enthusiastic students, the club offered something new to the student body in the form of a masked "Beaux Arts Ball," which was warmly received.

During the year the club was concerned with leatherwork, metalwork, and carving.

At present the membership is about thirty-five.

The aviation class originated five years ago as a "Glider Club" containing twenty members, and by purchasing a glider it was possible to make short flights from nearby fields. This club was not included in the curriculum of the school; it was an outside organization which met on Saturday mornings. Major Arthur Norwood had been asked by the boys to instruct them in elementary aviation.

Three years ago the school added to its curriculum a two year Aviation course in ground work, and instructions in flight were started by the purchase of an airplane by the school.

In February, 1934, Major Norwood went to the Aeronca factory at Cincinnati, Ohio, and flew the purchased airplane back to Teaneck. He arrived three hours ahead of a severe snowstorm.

Since the arrival of the plane, up to date, the plane has made twenty-five thousand landings and take-offs—without an accident—also forty students have taken lessons—twenty of whom have soloed, seven have amateur licenses and four have private licenses.

The object of the Speakers' Bureau is to promote and practice the principles of good speech. This is strictly an honorary organization and the members must have completed one semester of Public Speaking with a scholastic average of "B." To be admitted the candidate must be recommended by the instructor and have the consent of two-thirds of the enrolled members. To continue as a member it is necessary to actively engage in the activities of the organization.

The Bureau was in charge of the National Honor Society assembly and also engaged in two other assemblies and a P. T. A. program. The other activities consisted of assisting other clubs when presenting a program and also helping students who had to make a speech in school or out.

The show and dance sponsored by the students of Teaneck High School and faculty members on Friday night, January 30, was really a great show. The boys and girls who participated are to be commended for their sincere cooperation and willingness on behalf of aiding the people in the flood district of the country.

Approximately ninety dollars was taken in at the door. Contributions from home rooms amounted to $35.00. The Red Cross Councils of both junior and senior high collected fifty dollars. About nine dollars was realized from the sale of milk at the show and dance. The total receipts from these sources was about $235.00 which

"Chic" Amrhein — Janet Polhill — Helen Beegle — Muriel Schneider
Bob Cornell — Joe Sneider

Weather—cold or warm—the six cheerleaders did their very best in cheering us on to victory. The football and basketball teams may feel quite proud of the fact that, though they were losing, Captain Helen Beegle and her squad were cheering them on.

Helen tells us that her favorite cheer is "Boom-Boom" and who doesn't favor "Boom-Boom"?

Will you ever forget "Chic" with her "Rah-Rah-Ray-Ray"? NO!! She always had us all tuckered out by the time we ended at the "Team-Team-Team." Muriel prefers the "Victory" cheer; and "Jam" favors her "Come a be bo." Both Bob and Joe like the "T-E-A-M." These boys must stick together.

Though Harold Salmon had only a short season we'll always remember the beating he took when we cheered, "Hit 'Em High."

Hats off to our 1937 cheerleaders and may they ever cheer us on!

Football

Captain Cancro

Coach Simpson

Although Teaneck High's football team experienced its worst season in history, they finished in a blaze of glory with a brilliant but losing battle against a superior Hackensack team.

The final recapitulation shows eight losses against one lone victory over Hawthorne, which did not score a point this season. From this can be readily seen that the Highwaymen did not have much to gloat over.

Although alibis and excuses have not come from the members of the squad and coaching staff, many reasons can be offered for their poor showing. In the first place this was Coach Simpson's first year at Teaneck, which worked a hardship on both coach and players. Secondly, the Blue and White had one of the toughest schedules in the country and few experienced men to rely on.

Those who stood out Saturday after Saturday, although going to overwhelming defeats were: Lud Gibbons and Don Stuart, who played every minute of every game. Also outstanding were Tony Cancro and Vic Zaro.

Prospects though are bright for next season with eleven experienced men returning, namely: Phil Rovelli, Warren Taylor, Don Stuart, Bob Sachtleben, Jack Court, Al Cancro, Reggie Miner, Wally Cramer, Ed Van Houghten, Bob McMasters, and Teddy Knudsen.

Summary of season is as follows:

Basketball

Coach Dolph

Captain Hardy

Although finishing with a dismal record of 5 wins and 13 losses, the Teaneck Basketball team derived some pleasure in the fact that they improved on last year's stalwarts who managed to come out on top in only one encounter.

The boys started the season in what looked like the road to success. Extravagant prophecies were made that the Blue and White would finally come out of the basketball depths and see the sunny side of victory for a change. The veteran studded aggregation, however, after a brilliant start bogged down and never managed to click with any regularity.

Coach Dolph, however, has something to look forward to next year, for the team is coming back en masse, the only losses being through the graduation of Hes Beinhauer and the moving of Phil Rovelli to Dumont. With this nucleus the Blue and White really may go to town in 1938, but the boys have had so many bad breaks that the only thing we can do is to expect the worst and hope for the best.

The so called shining lights and starting team in the season just past were: Bob Raetz, who was high scorer as well as the most consistent performer; Alex Hardy, an excellent floor man but never seeming to reach his true potentialities; towering Jus Baker, an awkward but game player and the aforementioned Phil Rovelli, and Hes Beinhauer.

If Teaneck High could produce the right players, we would be all set for a successful season because other things are equal. By that we mean Coach Dolph! He certainly has worked honestly and sincerely! If not successful in final scores, he has at least taught us how to play the game—which after all is the real meaning of sports' education—We learn to like the sport for our own development and pleasure and we know enough now not to place false emphasis on "winning"—

The results of the games follow:

Baseball

Captain Tucker

Coach Salerno

Endowed with a galaxy of veterans, Coach Sal Salerno's baseball team should go a long way in making an impressive record on the diamond this year. Although we go to press too soon to give a full account of the season's doings, the Highwaymen have been exceedingly impressive in their two starts to date, winning 4—2 over a strong Hackensack club and losing a heart-breaking one-hit ball game to undefeated Fort Lee, 1—0.

The entire infield is composed of seasoned and dependable players. At first base, there is a promising eleventh grader, Bob Raetz; minding the midway sack is John Johannessen; at shortstop, Captain Merril Tucker, one of the best ball hawks Teaneck has had in many a day; and at third base, a boy with great natural ability, Bob McMasters.

The pitching situation is adequately taken care of by three seniors who look as if they will really go to town for the Blue and White, Leon Papazion, "Chet" Sheets and Johnny Rausch. Catching their slants is the game and conscientious Tony Cancro.

In the outfield there are Bob Armstrong, Alex Hardy, Papazion, when he is not on the mound, and Pete Maier—all covering the outer garden with precision and ease.

From this glowing description it can readily be seen that the Highwaymen have the talent to make a name for themselves in county circles. Let us hope they live up to their potentialities.

Other members of the squad are: T. Cordaro, J. Tompson, J. Court, C. Steel, N. Tucker, M. Foster, J. Sloane, P. Maier, J. Costa, M. Welch, R. Zimmerman, W. Lintot. The managers are: W. Ziegler, J. Golden, E. Carr, W. Brown, R. Pratt, P. Smith.

Track

The Teaneck Track Team this year undertook one of the most difficult schedules ever undertaken by any Teaneck Track Team since the introduction of the sport to the high school.

Under the direction of a new coach, Sam Velebny, and with only a few veterans we will have quite a tough time this season. Coach Velebny stated, "If our potential powers come through we will win a fair percentage of the meets."

Although losing their first meet to Ridgefield Park by the very close score of 48⅓—46⅔, the team will certainly emerge victorious from at least half of the remaining meets.

This year the bulwark of the team was carried by Bill Ford and John Pitlo, who ran the sprints; Ed Welch, pole vault; George Van Houten, and Captain Bill Delaney, who ran the half-mile and mile runs respectively.

Under the capable managing of George Berghorn everything is running smoothly.

Other outstanding track aspirants are: Harold Graff, Bettramini and John Pitlo, Broad Jump; Bud Hoppe, Tom Arnold, Doug. Jensen and Bill Lampe, High Jump; Ed. Welch and Bill Lampe, Pole Vault; Bud Hoppe, Joe Walsch, Wally Cramer and Van Houten, Shot Put; Pitlo, Ford and Campbell, 100 yd. dash; Jim Davidson and Emil Marchesi, 220; Bill Davenport, Tom Arnold, Ed. Gogolen, Tom Kappock and Ed. Van Houten, 880; Bill DeLaney, Woody Bein, Dick Coffman, Harold Alpaugh and Dave Habel, 1 mile.

The schedule follows:

Wrestling

Climaxing one of the most triumphant athletic seasons in Teaneck High's history, an undefeated Blue and White wrestling team brought the first state championship to our stately halls.

With a galaxy of veterans the Highwaymen trampled nearly all foes under overwhelming scores although they were held to a tie by the former state champions, Newton High School.

Those matmen who brought honor and glory not only to themselves but to their alma mater by acquiring individual championships at the state meet were: Warren Bund—the diminutive but capable veteran, Captain Tony Cancro, one of the most dependable and best liked athletes on the squad who has been undefeated for nearly two years, Lud Gibbons, who will go down in the annals of the school as the most sparkling matman the state has ever seen, and Don Stuart, who has made a phenomenal improvement on the squad and now has a state crown for his efforts.

The only sad note that entered the picture this year was the unfortunate accident that Beans Taylor suffered in the Newton meet when his left arm was fractured.

Other members of the squad were: Rodney Wilson, Bill Mackey, Emil Steen, Vic Zaro, Joe Walsh, Reggie Miner, Leon Papazion, Al Cancro, and Dave Rosamond.

No summary of the wrestling season would be complete without a word about Coach Campbell! Since space permits only that one word, we will say that he is respected and admired by all who know him and he has a reputation among the wrestlers for hard work and for working others hard to accomplish their successes. A long cheer for Coach Campbell!

The results of the meets were:

Girls' Sports

The girls' sports in Teaneck High School are varied.

One of the most popular sports, especially during gym period, is Ping-Pong. We have many outstanding players. Among them are: Betty Braun, Connie Smith, Betty Fleck, Dorothy Lindsay, and Rosemary Cathie. Last year this sport wasn't quite as popular with the girls due to the fact that the boys were given more opportunity to play it. Although we played no tournaments, every afternoon found several girls in Miss Guerber's office.

Next comes tennis—this sport is also very popular. The girls go in for it in a big way! Dot Kielman and Josephine Mau, of the eleventh grade, seem to be about the best we have. Of course there are others that go out for it, and, by the end of the season, we wouldn't be surprised if we had several "Alice Marbels."

Baseball is becoming as popular with girls as with boys and the year saw an unusual turn out. Practically every afternoon of practice there are "by-standers" who cheered the girls on to home runs. Even during gym period most of the girls would rather play baseball than some other "sissy game."

Basketball season was one season that will never be forgotten! Peg Edwardes' team played the women's faculty and what a game it was! We must compliment Miss Miller for her grand playing. All the girls had a laughable time at the game. The final outcome was: Faculty team 17, Peg's team 26! Mr. Campbell acted as referee; Betty Fleck, as scorekeeper; Evelyn Barthold and Marion Hardcastle, as time keepers; Jeannette Bolinder was in charge of tickets, and Alice McLean was in charge of the candy sold.

Swimming has always been a favorite sport with girls so needless to say the lakes of New Jersey will be frequently visited by the fairer sex.

Then, too, we have grand fun with archery, shuffleboard, horseback riding, bowling and all types of dancing—Teaneck High does more for us girls than any other high school in the county. Let's thank the administration and our active Coach, Miss Guerber, for these advantages. Miss Guerber always has time for our needs and gives freely of her own time for our games. We are grateful.

Archery

Archery began in the Spring and a rather nice turn-out appeared. Always "tops" when it comes to scoring are Edythe McCracken and Florence Smith. The girls did some rather nice shooting with the Indians' weapons. Competing with a few schools on a friendly basis, the Archery Club fared fairly well.

Swimming Club

The Y. M. C. A. of Hackensack gave the girls a special rate, and every Tuesday found Hackensack filled with Teaneck girls. They had not only the opportunity of getting wet but also of learning how to swim and dive. As the summer months approach they will find more girls turning out for one of the favorite sports.

Riding Club

Many of the older girls in Teaneck High enjoyed the dandy times they had going horseback riding. They rented horses by the hour from Radburn Riding Academy and would very diligently learn to ride.

Hockey

Hockey-sock! crash! "Ouch, my shin!" Such are the cries heard when the girls hit that little oversized golf ball around and down the field.

But all kidding aside, scores are made nevertheless. Dot Zimmerman was the worthy captain of the twelfth grade and a fine job she did.

Every afternoon Dot Lindsay, manager, called practice. The windy days found a group of about twenty girls passing the hockey ball from one to the other gaining headway by dashing down the field. Dot's favorite way of informing us of practice was by placing an announcement sheet on the girls' locker room door. The note might say, "Hockey practice this afternoon at 3:15. Be there—or else! D. Lindsay, manager." At 3:15 the locker room would find baskets strewn all over the floor and girls tripping lightly around the room forcing themselves into blue gym suits. Such is a hockey gal's life.

By the by—the twelfth grade won the inter-class tournament for hockey!

MISS CLAIRE GUERBER

Betty Fleck, Marie Bosselmann, and Peggy Edwardes were the captains of the three basketball teams for this year in the twelfth grade and Rosemary Cathie was the manager.

Peg Edwardes' team was supposed to play the women's faculty team, but as this goes to press we don't know. But no matter which team plays the faculty, a hard game will be played by both teams.

Those who played some "flashy" games were Bee Hess, Helen Beegle, Betty Fleck, Jeanette Bolinder, Ruth Brielmaier, and Marie Bosselmann. Approximately thirty girls came out for this popular mid-winter sport. During the time they were allowed to dress many funny happenings occurred. Occasionally several of the girls left their clothes hanging in the shower. While dressing someone would "accidentally" hit the faucet and "several" girls went home with wet clothes. And then again shoes were hidden from the girls and they had frenzied moments tearing their hair looking for them.

Girls' Baseball

Sponsor.....Miss Claire Guerber

Baseball always has to be written before the season. Thus we'll try to prophesy.

The Seniors always (?) win, so no need to go much further! Who will be manager no one person knows as yet.

The "turn-out" this year will probably include Rosemary Cathie, Dot Lindsay, Dot Zimmerman, Betty Fleck, Jeanette Bolinder, Peg Edwardes, Ruth Brielmaier, Grace Schmidt, Helen Beegle, Bee Hess, and Chic Amrhein. Our "Babe Ruth" of the team is, we predict, Marie Bosselmann. She certainly can hit that ball! She will also be our star pitcher. Anna Raymond and Rosemary Cathie are also two who can put plenty of weight behind that ball. (Take it from one who knows!) Of course, there are many others—all in all—about sixty or more Seniors will undoubtedly come out—but only Spring will tell.

Among the games to be played are: Seniors versus Juniors and Sophs, and perhaps a faculty game. That will be funny! We'll probably also "take on" the girls from Hackensack and Westwood.

The Leaders' Club of Teaneck High had for its officers this year, Rosemary Cathie, president; Anne Schaaf, vice president; Anna Raymond, secretary; and "Chic" Amrhein, treasurer. Among our many duties are serving to the visiting football teams and P. T. A. meetings and managing girls' tournaments in hockey, basketball, and baseball.

The Teaneck Sports Club, a new branch of Leaders' Club, held a Christmas party for the Leaders' Club and made all arrangements. This newly organized club was formed because of the vast number of girls wishing membership in the Leaders' Club. They carried on their own activities and had their own officers. The Leaders' Club accepted applications in February from the T. S. C. for girls to enter Leaders' Club on their qualifications and efforts to become leaders.

THE AMERICAN INDIAN FINALLY COMES INTO HIS OWN!! WA-HOO!! WE, THE LAUGH OF THE YEARBOOK(?) FOR LACK OF ANY MORE WORTHY OBJECT OF PITY (BESIDES OURSELVES), HEREBY DEDICATE THIS SECTION TO THE FORGOTTEN INDIAN. THE MIGHTY DISCIPLES OF THROWING BULL WERE VICTIMS OF THE SCALPERS AND TOOK A TRIMMING LONG BEFORE WALL STREET WAS INVENTED AND EVEN SO DID A GOOD JOB OF KEEPING THEIR WIGWAM. WE CAN'T AGREE WITH MR. HEARST ABOUT THE "RED MENACE" BECAUSE THE ONLY INDIANS WE COULD FIND WERE ON RESERVATIONS.

HOWEVER, TO THESE LAST REMNANTS OF A MIGHTY RACE WE GIVE OUR TRIBUTE—LONG LIVE THE AMERICAN INDIAN—THEN—MAY HE REST IN PEACE.

Joint Movements With Hendrickson

Good morning, ladies and gentlemen. The makers of Miss Plaskett's Pore Purification Preparation present "Joint Movements" with Hendrickson every morning at this hour. Remember, Miss P's. P. P. P. cannot do it all; it can cleanse the pores of all foreign and domestic matter, true, but for a really glowing, radiant epidermis exercise, too, plays its part.

We now present Neal Hendrickson, who will lead us in a few brisk, snappy set-ups. (Mr. H. is clad in a lemon colored sweatshirt, lavender pleated shorts, knee length, for dignity's sake, lemon colored sweat socks, and white canvas shoes with purple gummed soles—Coach Rea and Esky please note.) Mr. Hendrickson!

"Good morning, my radio populas. We shall set the circulatory system moving briskly by facing the open window, through which is blowing a mild monsoon, and waving in our most graceful, lazy manner at the young lady across the court.

Now while we are still fresh, and if you feel that the stamina to see you through it is yours, we shall try an exercise that Hercules was a bit dubious about attempting. The one exercise that Achilles and Atlas shied away from. The rigorous bit of grueling calisthenics that has been banned from all Olympics and such meets where precision-trained athletes gather to test their physical prowess. Face a table, feet well apart, braced, and try lifting a Sunday Times.

Let us now exercise a bit with a purpose. Commence flexing the right or left arm at the elbow in a steady rhythmic fashion. Then extend the arm of your choice forward and wiggle the thumb with a slow, rotary movement. Repeat these two gymnastics until you have the movements synchronized to the extent that cars will screech to a halt when you're hitch-hiking.

Ready now for Exercise 32, we-we-wi-l-l Ahh-h O-H-oh-ohhh ZUMP! Ladies and gentlemen, Mr. Hendrickson has collapsed. The studio orchestra will continue the program.

Sidewalk Pickups

"Good afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Q. Public. We take you to the corner of Bean Can Road and Seeder Lane from which our weekly program, 'Side Walk Pickups,' is borecasting today. Will the young lady please step up to the mike? Now, what's your name and what do you do?"

"Eggy Pedwards, and I'm an inmate of Teaneck High School."

"That's rotten, Eggy. We all know how you feel. Now, how's about answering a few questions from an old resident of Leavenworth, Kansas. Please define the following words: goblet, blizzard, and skeleton."

"A goblet is a male turkey and blizzard is the inside of a fowl, but I'm hooked on the last. It's not a snap like the others. Say, how's this? A skeleton is a man with his inside out and outside off."

"Thanks a lot, Eggy. That's fine. If any one sends in any votes we'll let you know."

"And now, folks, we interrupt a second to tell you how to vote. Take a penny postcard and write your choice as to our best interview on it. Then, to camouflage it so that no one will see what you wrote, take a five dollar bill, or a reasonably accurate facsimile thereof (if your old Uncle Sam doesn't see you) and glue it over the writing. The person receiving the most votes will be sent one of our new crocheted bathtubs, guaranteed not to shrink after the first using. Our tubs are made to fit."

Gertie's Program

Greeting: This station operates on a fixed alltoofrequency of 200 motorcycles or a permanentwavelength of 17,35ccs.

We now give you the correct time by the courtesy of the Stop Watch Company, soul manufacturers, and makers of the famous Punch Clock, known the world over for its inaccuracy and dependability in that respect. At the sound of the off note it will or might be one minute past knock out time. Bong!

And now, ladies and gentlemen of the audiorandiance, it is our privilege to prevent on an arm to arm fretwork a program direct from Edward Misfelt's Beauty Saloon.

Boneswoir, fellow seekers of lost beauty. Tonight we give you the secret of our famous method of making up for what Ma Nature forgot to do for you. We are going to let you go into one of our booths with the first lady to enter the saloon.

Entering is a very charming debootante. She is the Miss Bobbie Flake and she wants the words—so help her! She is taken into the booth and is attended by our beautician Talbert. The payee with her, Walter BarkWhat?—suggests that Camel facial cream be used to give her a lift and Wildes Woolworth Makeup be used exLUXively. A mud pack is put on to cover up the dirt and to bring out that delicious cream and peaches texture. Next a Smith Starlight Shampoo Treatment is used, and Henwood's Heavenly Henna applied.

And now we follow them into the steam roon where she will have a bath to bring out the curvatures, a hot shower to take off the chill, and a rub down to bring up the pressure.

Remember—Our saloon will remake you to the measurements and specifications that you desire. The face that only Mother can love will be admired, and there will be no other like it, except in the museum for unusual phooneyisms.

Charlie's Program: Ben Around

Good afternoon, ladies and gentlemen. The Kronie Krappy Kapsule Kompany takes infinitesimal pleasure in presenting to you Ben Around, noted world traveler, who is going to tell you of his experiences on the isle of Goona Goona Gona.

But first, a few words about our product, Kronie's Krappy Kapsules. Doesn't the name alone suggest anything to you? I'll say it does; it suggests—dependability. After all Kronie's Krappy Kapsules have been on the market for 3 whole weeks. Only twice has the company had slight—oh, very slight—difficulties with the Pure Food Laws, not to mention the Drug Act. What other company can boast of such a record? None!

We make no violent and fantastic claims for our product. It has only a very few specific uses. It may be used for sunburn, frozen feet, sleeping sickness, insomnia, high or low blood pressure, removing excess fat, putting on weight, etc.

Men! Kronie's Krappy Kapsules will grow hair on Jim Farley's head.

Women! These capsules remove excessive hair and discourage its further growth.

When you are feeling ill or run down, do not see a doctor. First, take Kronie Krappy Kapsule, and then see a doctor.

And now we introduce that romantic wanderer, Ben Around.

Ben: I should like to tell you of my experiences on Goona Goona Gona. The native girls of this isle are the most beautiful in the world. I know because I'm Ben Around.

Announcer: Yes, yes, Ben. And what keeps these girls so beautiful?

Ben: Why, they live a quiet, simple life; they——

Announcer: No, no, Ben. What medicine do they use that helps them keep in such good health?

Ben: They use a native preparation called——

Announcer: No, Ben. What American preparation? Look, Ben, what American made capsules do they take?

Ben: Oh, I see. For years they have been dealing with the Uneeda Capsule Company. Why do you look at me that way? Did I say——

Announcer: Due to operating difficulties and other unforeseen developments our program now comes to a close. Tomorrow we shall bring you that world traveler, romantic wanderer, I. Travelot. Good day.

Slingtime

Flash!—The "Madame," that great moralist and collaborator with Mr. Olivia Dionne in the book, "Our Diminishing Birth Rate," was seen leaving the French Casino last evening.

Calamity and Crepe!—We extend our deepest sympathy to Mr. Kroner in his great bereavement on the loss of his long cherished possession—that unbreakable lead pencil, 1914 model.

Flash!—Mr. Bream and William Randolph have finally buried the hatchet! (Note how subtly we interweave the Indian theme!)

Flash!—Mr. H. O. Morse "swears" he saw a sea serpent in Overpeck Creek while returning from the Old Grad's Dinner at Dartmouth. Mr. Gary comments on this, quote, "Tatch!"

Flash!—Mr. Becker was last seen loping down the Concourse yelling, "Eureka! Eureka! I've found out what X equals."

SCOOP! FLASH! ZOWIE! Believe it or not!

It has just been learned that a Teaneck High School student has actually been accepted by a college, the great University of Igloo, Nowhere, Alaska. Teaneck's peerless record for the last seven years now stands:

Teaneck graduates accepted by New Jersey State Reform School—77
Teaneck graduates in or accepted by colleges—5
Teaneck graduates working for W. P. A.—270
Teaneck graduates married—2,001
Teaneck graduates on relief—2,001

T. H. S. Nursery Rhymes

Mr. Becker went to the cupboard.
  We'll have a test today.
When he got there the cupboard was bare.
  We'll have one anyway.

Bill Martin lost his homework.
  Didn't know where to look.
Maybe some day he'll get it done
  If he ever brings home a book.

Douglas Deicke sat in a corner
  Letting the spitballs fly.
He aimed one right at Henry Schiff
  And it caught Miss Matthew's eye.

Hey! diddle, diddle!
Kendall and fiddle.
  Boy, how that guy can play.
If Mr. Wilhoit doesn't watch out
  He'll take his job away.

Ziegy had a girl-friend,
  He took her to the prom.
And now that little dapper
  Has a dozen on his arm.

OWED TO CHEMISTRY

Chemistry just makes me sick,
  The valences are contrary,
The atoms simply won't stay put,
  And precipitates—they vary.

Ammonia always makes me weep,
  And acids eat my clothes,
Caustic soda burns my skin,
  And sulphides—hold your nose!

The hydrocarbons get my goat,
  Their names I cannot spell,
Trinitromethyltoluene
  Blows everything—pell-mell.

My chemistry days are at an end,
  Farewell to iron and zinc,
But how I miss those tonic odors,
  And mopping out that dirty sink.

Miss Galvin (to journalism class): Hand in your jokes and editorials. You had better hand them in separately so I'll know them apart.

---

Henry Peinecke (dramatizing a dying soldier): He sinks, he wilts, he's almost on the ground, but he struggles up, staggering in his pain, and as he falls—

Miss Margot: Say, are you all there?

Henry: No, I am a musician.

Freshman: I don't know.
Sophomore: I'm not prepared.
Junior: I don't recall that section of it.
Senior: I don't think I can add anything to what has been given.

---

Rocky-a-bye, Senior, on the tree-top,
As long as you study your grades will not drop,
  But if you stop digging, your standing will fall,
  And down will come Senior, diploma and all.

Mr. Bream: Aren't you afraid Bogota will learn your signals?
Tony Cancro: Naw, they're so complicated we can't understand them ourselves.

Ziegler: Have you an opening for a high school man?
Manager: Yes, it's right behind you, and would you mind closing it as you go out?

Early to bed and early to rise,
And your girl goes out with other guys.

THE BENT TWIG: Like a tree planted in good brown earth, music is rooted deep in the hearts of children. The intelligent parent knows this, and begins, while the child is young, to nurture and develop hidden talent. Thus the love of music grows as the child grows. . . . He may not be a genius . . . he may not even excel above his companions. But if, in youth and later life, he can play some simple, joyous melody . . . can turn, for inspiration and delight, to the piano of his childhood . . . then music, for him, has done its rich, rewarding work.

O DELIVER us from buyers who know the price of everything and the value of nothing; who believe that they can get a dollar's worth of value for fifty cents; who think that cheapness is thrift; who ignore the economy of quality; who believe they are getting something for nothing when they pay less; who buy things just because they are cheap, and whose god is price.

Give us clients who realize the extravagance of paying too little; who can see the bait in the bargain; who know that somebody is always ready to make things a little worse, and so a little cheaper.
